MEMORANDUM FOR: ADD/SAT
ADDI
Acting General Counsel
Legislative Counsel
Director of Security

SUBJECT: Unclassified Omnibus NSCID

1. Attached are a set of papers prepared for Mr. Colby in response to his request that an unclassified NSCID be drafted as a possible substitute for the existing eight classified NSCIDs. The Management Committee assigned the task to a committee consisting of Dr. Steininger, Mr. Walsh and I, and the IC Staff was tasked to prepare the paper.

2. Mr. Colby raised the subject again on 12 October so there is some urgency in getting the attached materials, as amended by your comments, to him as soon as possible.

3. We are interested in knowing the views of the General Counsel and the Legislative Counsel as to the legal adequacy of the attached document and the degree to which it would respond to questions which have been raised in the Congress concerning the NSCIDs. Views of the Director of Security are sought as to whether what is proposed to be in the unclassified NSCID can be released on an unclassified basis.

4. Because of Mr. Colby's interest in receiving the paper as soon as possible, it is requested your comments be provided to IC by close of business on Friday, 19 October.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Colby

SUBJECT: Unclassified Omnibus NSCID

1. Attached at Tab A is a draft omnibus unclassified NSCID, "Basic Duties and Responsibilities", which has been prepared in response to your request that attempts be made to see if a single unclassified NSCID might be developed to replace the existing set of eight classified NSCIDs.
2. At Tab B is an outline of the draft NSCID which enables a quick look at the topics which are covered. It was considered that a document which was as comprehensive as possible would be more acceptable to other departments and agencies than a very brief NSCID that said little more than the National Security Act of 1947.
3. At Tab C is a report on "Linkage Between Contents of the Existing DCIDs and the Proposed Omnibus Unclassified NSCID". As the comparisons set forth in this report indicate, the draft unclassified NSCID provides general authority for most of the provisions in the current DCIDs, but there are a few significant omissions which it did not appear feasible to express in unclassified terms.
4. In order to make an umbrella NSCID feasible on an unclassified basis many of the specific provisions which now get their directive authority from the classified NSCIDs would find expression only in DCIDs. In effect, specific assignment of responsibilities and decisions now made by the NSC would become the responsibility of the DCI. The extent to which members of the NSC--particularly the Secretary of Defense--will be willing to thus enlarge the decision-making authority of the DCI will have to be tested.
5. The draft NSCID at Tab A has been reviewed by the General Counsel, the Office of Legislative Counsel, and the Office of Security. If the draft is generally acceptable to you, we recommend it be submitted to the Management Committee. Following Management Committee action and your approval of the document, we recommend the unclassified HSCID be submitted to both USIB and IRAC for comments prior to being forwarded as a formal proposal to the HSC.

THE NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL INTELLIGENCE DIRECTIVE

BASIC DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The intelligence effort of the United States is a national responsibility and must be organized and managed to exploit available resources to the maximum and to satisfy the intelligence requirements of the National Security Council and of the departments and agencies of the Government. For the purpose of coordinating the foreign intelligence activities of the several Government departments and agencies in the interest of national security, and pursuant to the provisions of Section 102 of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, the National Security Council hereby authorizes and directs that:

1. Overall Coordination

The Director of Central Intelligence shall coordinate the foreign intelligence activities of the United States in accordance with existing law and applicable directives.

2. The National Security Council Intelligence Committee (NSCIC)

a. The National Security Council Intelligence Committee will give direction and guidance on national substantive foreign intelligence needs and provide for a continuing evaluation of intelligence products from the viewpoint of the intelligence consumer.

b. The National Security Council Intelligence Committee will be comprised of: The Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs, Chairman; The Director of Central Intelligence; The Deputy Secretary of State; The Deputy Secretary of the Treasury; The Deputy Secretary of Defense; and The Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

3. The Director of Central Intelligence

a. The Director of Central Intelligence will discharge four major responsibilities:

(1) Planning, reviewing and evaluating all foreign intelligence activities and the allocation of all intelligence resources.

(2) Producing national intelligence required by the President and other national consumers.

(3) Chairing and staffing all intelligence community advisory boards and committees.

(4) Establishing and reconciling intelligence requirements and priorities within budgetary constraints.

b. In discharging the above responsibilities the Director of Central Intelligence shall:

(1) Assure authoritative and responsible leadership for the intelligence community as a whole.

(2) Prepare and submit each year, through the Office of Management and Budget, a consolidated intelligence program/budget which will take into account such considerations as the comparative effectiveness of collection programs and the priorities of intelligence objectives.

(3) Provide guidance and establish specific priorities for the production of national and other intelligence<sup>1/</sup>, and for collection and other activities in support thereof.

(4) Establish policy, procedures and practices for the maintenance, by the individual components of the intelligence community, of a continuing exchange of intelligence information and other information of utility for intelligence purposes.

(5) Make recommendations on foreign intelligence matters to appropriate United States officials.

(6) On receipt of information that indicates an impending crisis situation that affects the security of the United States to the extent that immediate action or decision by the President or the National Security Council may be required, immediately prepare and disseminate, as appropriate, the national intelligence estimate of the situation.

<sup>1/</sup> National intelligence is that foreign intelligence required for the formulation and execution of national security policy. Such intelligence concerns more than one department or agency and transcends the competence of a single intelligence-producing department or agency. This contrasts with:
Departmental intelligence which is that intelligence which any department or agency requires to execute its own mission, and,
Joint intelligence which is a special category of intelligence jointly produced by Defense Department intelligence organizations in support of the assigned missions of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

(7) In consultation with the head of the intelligence or other appropriate component of the department or agency concerned, make such surveys of departmental intelligence activities of the various departments and agencies as he may deem necessary in connection with his duty to advise the National Security Council and to coordinate the intelligence effort of the United States.

(8) Formulate, as appropriate, policies with respect to arrangements with foreign governments on intelligence matters.

(9) Control the dissemination of national intelligence; disseminate such intelligence on a strictly controlled basis to foreign governments and international bodies upon his determination that such action would substantially promote the security of the United States, provided that such dissemination is consistent with existing statutes and Presidential policy, including that reflected in international agreements, and provided further that any disclosure of Federal Bureau of Investigation intelligence information shall be cleared with that agency prior to dissemination.

(10) Develop and review security standards and practices as they relate to the protection of foreign intelligence and of intelligence sources and methods from unauthorized disclosure; call upon the departments and agencies, as appropriate, to investigate within their department or agency any unauthorized disclosure of intelligence or of intelligence sources and methods, and to transmit the report of such investigation to the Director of Central Intelligence for review and such further action as he deems appropriate.

(11) Establish procedures for review by intelligence authorities of all classified intelligence information contemplated, proposed or prepared for release to the public or for use or disclosure in other unclassified activities in the course of which there is danger that intelligence sources and methods might be revealed.

(12) Facilitate the coordinated development of compatible referencing systems within the departments and agencies engaged in foreign intelligence activities and arrange for the use of designated facilities as a service of common concern as appropriate.

(13) Arrange with the departments and agencies for the assignment to, or exchange with, the Central Intelligence Agency of such experienced and qualified personnel as may be of advantage for advisory, operational or other purposes.

(14) Act for the National Security Council to provide for detailed implementation of this directive by issuing, after appropriate consultation, such supplementary Director of Central Intelligence Directives or supplementary agreements with other federal departments and agencies as may be required. Such directives shall, as applicable, be promulgated and implemented within the normal command channels of the departments and agencies concerned.

c. In the dissemination of national intelligence and in transmitting his recommendations on matters relating to intelligence production and resource management, the Director of Central Intelligence shall include therewith a statement indicating any substantially differing views of members of the United States Intelligence Board and the Intelligence Resources Advisory Committee, or of the Intelligence Chief of a Military Department.

4. Advisory bodies to support the Director of Central Intelligence

a. Intelligence Resources Advisory Committee (IRAC)

An Intelligence Resources Advisory Committee is hereby established to advise the Director of Central Intelligence on the preparation of the intelligence budget and the allocation of resources among programs and to ensure that they are employed in accordance with approved requirements with no unwarranted duplication. It will consist of the Director of Central Intelligence, Chairman, and senior representatives of the Department of State, Department of Defense, Central Intelligence Agency, and the Office of Management and Budget.

b. The United States Intelligence Board (USIB)

A United States Intelligence Board is hereby established under the chairmanship of the Director of Central Intelligence. Subject to other established responsibilities under existing law and directives, the United States Intelligence Board will advise and assist the Director of Central Intelligence with respect to:

- (1) The establishment of appropriate intelligence objectives, requirements and priorities.
- (2) The production of national intelligence.
- (3) The supervision of the dissemination and security of intelligence material.
- (4) The protection of intelligence sources and methods.
- (5) As appropriate, policies with respect to arrangements with foreign governments on intelligence matters.

c. The membership of the United States Intelligence Board shall consist of the following: The Director of Central Intelligence, Chairman; The Deputy Director of Central Intelligence, Vice Chairman; The Director of Intelligence and Research, Department of State; The Director, Defense Intelligence Agency; The Director, National Security Agency; a representative of the Secretary of the Treasury; a representative of the Atomic Energy Commission; and a representative of the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

d. The Director of Central Intelligence shall invite the chief of any other department or agency having functions related to the national security to sit with the United States Intelligence Board or the Intelligence Resources Advisory Committee whenever matters within the purview of his department or agency are to be discussed.

e. Subordinate committees and working groups shall be established, as appropriate, for the United States Intelligence Board and the Intelligence Resources Advisory Committee by the

5. Production of national intelligence

In execution of his responsibilities for the production of national intelligence the Director of Central Intelligence shall:

a. Determine which of the departments and agencies of the intelligence community can best undertake the primary responsibility for the production of the various categories of national intelligence.

b. Provide for production, on a coordinated basis, of national intelligence estimates and other estimates requested to meet the intelligence needs of the President, the National Security Council and other high level consumers.

c. Arrange for production, on a coordinated basis, of current intelligence<sup>2/</sup> intended primarily to meet the needs of the President, the National Security Council and other high level consumers. Such intelligence will serve the common needs of the interested departments and agencies of the Government for current intelligence not produced within their departmental missions.

6. Foreign intelligence collection

The Director of Central Intelligence shall

a. Be responsible for the substantive objectives of all national intelligence collection programs and for the review of the performance of all such programs.

<sup>1/</sup> Current intelligence is that intelligence of all types and forms of immediate interest, usually disseminated without delays incident to complete evaluation or interpretation.

b. Ensure that planning for the utilization of the collecting and reporting capabilities for intelligence purposes of each of the several departments and agencies avoids unnecessary duplication and uncoordinated overlap and provides adequate coverage for national security purposes.

c. With respect to overt collection activities, promote the development of services of common concern with full recognition of both the capabilities and the needs and special requirements of the individual departments and agencies.

d. Ensure centralized direction through prior, comprehensive and continuing coordination of all authorized clandestine activities.

(1) Establish the procedures necessary to achieve such direction and coordination, including the assessment of risk incident upon such operations as compared to the value of the activity, and to ensure that sensitive operations are reviewed pursuant to applicable directives.

(2) Coordinate all clandestine activities conducted outside the United States and its possessions.

7. Community responsibilities

Each department and agency shall

a. Taking full cognizance of the facilities and capabilities of other agencies, maintain adequate capabilities to accomplish its departmental intelligence mission and to provide such additional intelligence

Approved For Release 2005/05/23 : CIA-RDP82M00531R000400270001-5 within its field of primary responsibilities as may be necessary to satisfy other requirements relating to the national security, including inputs to national intelligence.

b. Insofar as is practicable, in the fulfillment of their respective responsibilities for collection and production of intelligence, avoid duplication of the intelligence activities and research of other departments and agencies and make full use of existing capabilities of the other elements of the intelligence community.

c. Provide to the Director of Central Intelligence all of the information required for the exercise of his responsibilities.

d. Maintain the basic intelligence<sup>3/</sup> required for the execution of its mission in a format or data base readily available for use by other departments and agencies.

e. Produce and disseminate such current intelligence as may be necessary to meet its own internal requirements.

f. Contribute to the coordinated current intelligence publications produced under Director of Central Intelligence auspices such inputs as are appropriate, and on a timely basis.

<sup>3/</sup> Basic intelligence is that factual intelligence that results from the collection of encyclopedic information of a fundamental and more or less permanent nature and that, as a result of evaluation and interpretation, is determined to be the best available.

g. Retain responsibility for the protection of intelligence and of intelligence sources and methods within its own organization, and establish appropriate internal policies and procedures to prevent the unauthorized disclosure from within that agency of intelligence information or activity.

h. Upon obtaining information which indicates an impending crisis situation which affects the security of the United States, immediately transmit the information to the Director of Central Intelligence and other members of the United States Intelligence Board, as well as to the National Indications Center and to other officials and agencies as may be indicated by the circumstances.

i. Establish appropriate policies and procedures to control and limit undesirable publicity relating to intelligence activities.

8. Allocation of special responsibilities

a. Management of intelligence collection resources involved in national technical means of verification as related to international agreements such as those on strategic arms limitation and the limited nuclear test ban will be as agreed between the Secretary of Defense and the Director of Central Intelligence.

- b. The Secretary of Defense is designated as Executive Agent for the conduct of signals intelligence activities.
- c. The Central Intelligence Agency has primary responsibility for US clandestine activities abroad.
- d. The Central Intelligence Agency has responsibility, as a service of common concern, for monitoring foreign broadcasts and exploiting foreign language publications, and providing the information collected to other interested organizations.
- e. As a service of common concern, the Central Intelligence Agency has responsibility for domestic collection activities involving the interviewing of American citizens on a knowing voluntary basis for their knowledge of foreign intelligence which they will share with their Government.
- f. The Director of Central Intelligence Shall provide for a national photographic interpretation center as a service of common concern, but the departments and agencies represented on the United States Intelligence Board shall continue to be individually responsible for photographic interpretation and the production of photographic intelligence in support of established departmental or agency responsibilities.

STAT

h. The use of national intelligence resources in active theaters of war where US forces are engaged, or when the President so directs, will be in accordance with agreements reached between the Secretary of Defense and the Director of Central Intelligence.
